The Correspondence Between Messrs. Cutting and Breckenridge. The following is said to be a correct abstract of the correspondence between Messrs. Cutting and Breckenridge, growing out of their late difficulty : On Monday, the 27th March, after the personal discussion in the House, Mr. Cutting addressed a note to Mr. Breckenridge, in which he demanded of him a withdrawal of the word "false," or that he would make such explanations as was due from one gentleman to another, and he referred to Mr. Maurice his friend to act for him. Mr. Breckenridge replied to the first part of this note, that the word " false" was used by him in consequence of a previous expression made use of by Mr. Cutting, and until that was withdrawn he could not withdraw the word complained of. With reference to the second part the note, Mr. Breckenridge considered it a challenge, and accordingly appointed Col. Hawkins his friend to arrange preliminaries. On the following morning, Tuesday, Col. Hawkins met Mr. Maurice, and tendered to him a note from Mr. Breckenridge, accepting the alternative proposition suggested in Mr. Cutting's note. This Mr. Maurice declined, but presented a letter from Mr. Cutting, which Col. Hawkins considered could not be received, on the ground that no additional note could be accepted until Mr. Breckenridge's response to Mr. Cutting's challenge had been received by the latter. Thereupon both gentlemen separated, and Col. Hawkins delivered Mr. Breckenridge's note to Mr. Cutting in person. Mr. Maurice did not deliver the note he held from Mr. Cutting to Mr. Brecken-cious and well-devised measures which, since he honored you with the command of that island, you Mr. Cutting, at this stage of the proceedings, subhave taken to maintain its possessions and to preserve stituted Col. Monroe for Mr. Maurice as his friend, the tranquility of its faithful inhabitants, to restrain who waited upon Col. Hawkins, and demanded the within just limits those who would leave the path of honor, and to chastise those who, forgetful of their terms of the meeting. On Wednesday morning Col. Hawkins met Col. Monroe, and handed him in writing the terms, namely to meet that afternoon between three and four o'clock near Mr. Blair's residence with rifles, at sixty paces. At this interview the position of Mr. Breckenridge as the challenged party was not called in question, but objection was made by Col Monroe to the hour of meeting, on the ground that weapons could not be procured in time. Thereupon Col. Hawkins consented to a postponement of the meeting till the following morning, and it was agreed that the friends of the parties should meet that evening and make final arrangements. In the evening Col. Monroe presented a paper in writing, claiming that his principal was the challenged not the challenging party, and, therefore, had the choice of weapons, which he named—pistols, at ten paces. Col. Hawkins declined to accede to this view of the case or yield the right of his principal to name the time, place and weapone, as the challenged party. Col. Monroe took the ground that neither he nor his principal considered the first note a challenge, but asked for time to confer with Mr. Cutting. Col. Monroe the next morning stated that he was authorised by Mr. Cutting to declare that his first note was not intended as a challenge.

Col. Hawkins then referred them to Mr. Breckenridge's first note of the 27th, in which he declined to cellency may deem proper to the royal service; this make the retraction of the word "false," so long as use of authority to be in all cases provisional, your the cause remained in Mr. Cutting's previous expresexcellency reporting to his Majesty for his sovereign sions. To this Mr. Cutting replied in writing, that the expressions used were intended as a criticism on His Majesty, in confering upon you this marked his arguments, and not as personal to Mr. Breckenproof of his royal esteem, and of the high confiridge. Mr. Breckenridge thereupon expressed his dence which he proposes in your accredited loyalty, satisfaction at the disavowal of any personal offence expects that, corresponding worshily to it, your exon the part of Mr. Cutting, and willingly withdrew cellency will exercise the most continued prudence the offensive rejoinder, remarking that a similar disand circumspection, with, at the same time, an indeavowal on the part of Mr. Cutting at the time would

THE WILMINGTON JOURNAL.

WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, APRIL 14, 1854.

The Weekly Journal-Our Supplement. We again present our readers with a "Supplement to the Weekly Journal," which, we trust, will be found to contain interesting and useful reading matter, with one advantage to our subscribers-that of entailing no extra expense. Indeed, it has come to be a received law of newspaper publishing, that, come what may-no matter what may be the rise of prices in other commodities-the cost of newspapers should never be increased. Since 1844, when the Journal was started, every element of expense in the production of a paper has been enormously enhanced; the cost of living, wages of labor, price of paper-even the very lights we use; yet no addition has been made to the rate of subscription-and this, too, while the amount of reading matter furnished has been more than doubled A largely increased list and business has alone enabled us to do this; and, a still farther increase is due to our exertions, and would materially assist us in our onward course .-Circulate the documents, and send in the names and Certainly the man had an awful eye the next morning, and the mark where he was thrown off the tombthe Sexton's buck-goat could not be found for some ime, although he was at length discovered in an obscure corner of the yard; and, somehow, they of litpersonated the Devil "for the occasion." For our own part, we lean to the diabolical theory. If the Devil is to be explained away in that fashion every time he appears, we might as well have no Devil.

It is evident that the foregoing remarks have nothing to do with the "prominent topics of the day."make no reference to the war in Europe, the Black Warrior, the Nebraska Bill nor the Charleston Convention. It is even so. We confess ourselves so

The Charleston Convention

" Everybody for himself and the Lord for us all used to be a maxim with somebody or other, we forget his name, but that makes very little difference, for the motto has been practically adopted by all the world and the rest of mankind. Of this the Charleston Commercial Convention is a case in point and will serve as an illustration.

We have noticed in the papers of that city elaborate and well written articles upon the subject of the Convention and its objects, the pith of which amounts to this :- The South ought to concentrate her resources at some point so as to build up a city through which to do her own trading in the way of foreign importing and exporting-that city ought be on the Atlantic coast, and finally that city ought to be Charleston, to which all the little dogs ought to be tributary, so that Charleston may rival New York. This, of course, is the Charleston view of Southern commerce. On the other hand, Baltimore will urge similar claims; and it is reasonable to suppose that Mobile and New Orleans will fail to perceive the force of the arguments which exclude any port on the Gulf from aspiring to the position of a great Southern Emporium. It is quite possible, also, that other towns might object to a merger of their growing importance, for the purpose of building up one or two at the expense of all. Thus it will be : every man-that is, every interest-for itself, and thus the energies of all will be exerted to their fullest tension.

In trade, as in physics, the centre of gravity will be the centre of motion, and nothing of an arbitrary or conventional character can change or counteract the operation of this great natural law. People will not sacrifice their own interests to those of others on some mere abstraction. If the city which aspires to concentrate trade and make herself the grand depot for all the rest, can work out that end for herself-if, in the battle of trade, she can conquer the position to which she aspires, then her success is certain; but, to dream that such position ever was, or ever will be attained through the courtesy or voluntary surrender of others, is sheer nonsense.

These are among some of the reasons which lead as to expect little or no practical advantage from these Conventions. In or out of them it will be every interest for itself, as indeed it should be, and that interest and that only which displays the most enlightened selfishness, if we may use the expression, is likely to bear off the palm or confer a lasting benefit upon the country or the section in which it is fact before us, we can have little question of the

Had the positions therein assumed been less favourably received-had they, in fact, been condemned by the country and the world, who believes that Mr. Everett would have been found stepping forward to assume the odium, with the same alacrity which he now displays in claiming the laurels which public opinion has awarded to a deceased friend.

We hardly think that Mr. Everett will gain much tired of these things that we turn to the Devil him- by this movement. He will never be either a President or a Daniel Webster. banquet, Jan. 7, 1852, in Washington city. May I be so egotistical as to say that I have nothing to say upon the subject of Hungary. Gentlemen, in the au-tumn of year before last, out of health, and retired to my paternal home among the mountains of New Hampshire, I was, by reason of my physical condition, confined to my house; but I was among the mountains, whose native air I was bound to inspire. Nothing saluted my senses, nothing saluted my mind or my sentiments, but freedom, full and entire, [applause;] and there, gentlemen, near the grave of my ancestors I wrote a letter, which most of you have seen, addressed to the Austrian charge d'affairs. I can say nothing of the ability displayed in that letter, but as to its principles, while the sun and moon endure I stand by them.

Bes It would seem as though the publication of the secret correspondence between the Russian and France by the Emperor of Russia, can hardly fail to ings. add increased bitterness to the contest about to commence in Europe. From the first, the Emperor of Russia has failed in a full recognition of the claims of Napoleon III; and, however much the latter may have dissembled his irritation on this account, there can be no doubt that it was deep and lasting, nor that he has been willing to avail himself of any Empire at his disposal for foreign war; for, much he rules. The next steamer, beyond doubt, will any anticipations which have yet been formed. This put under contribution secret correspondence shows that, in speaking of the arrangement which he desired to make with England in regard to the final disposition of Turkey, the Emperor of Russia expressly stated that, in the whole matter, Russia and Austria understood each otherthat their course was the same and their interests

Cape Fear Bar-No. 3.

MESSRS. EDITORS :- It is a well known fact, as the older portion of our citizens can inform you, that before New Inlet broke through to the extent of being a deep channel, the water on the Main Bar was never less (at high tide) than 21 feet, and no improvement by way of confining the water to a narrow channel had been made.

It is now proposed—and a part of the work has been accomplished—to confine the water-course between Fort Caswell and Bald Head Light House to certain defined limits-the shores to be protected by jettees, in such manner that the tide must flow and ebb without making the water-way any wider; and, of course, if we succeed in closing up the Inlet so that all the water of the Cape Fear River, including the ebb and flow of the tide, is made, as formerly, over the Main Bar, it must make it much deeper. In fact, there can be no doubt in the mind of any one that this will be the result; and to the extent of twenty feet, at least.

Now, as to the possibility and probability of clos. ing the Inlet, I have not the slightest doubt. Professor Bache estimates that it will cost $350,000. I should think this a very large estimate, but it is safe, and therefore let it stand. If Congress will pass the present bill of $200,000, there will be no further difficulty about the matter. I am of the opinion that the Inlet will be closed before the appropriation is exhausted.

I would suggest the method of closing this channel by timber and stone. Build strong jettees on either shore of timber, heavily loaded with stone. then, by means of pens of heavy timber, loaded with stone, to be sunk at low tide, where they are required, and rapidly enough to prevent wearing away beuntil the current ceases to make through the pass, and, in a short time, sand will accumulate and cover the whole pile. Then, by a judicious planting of grass and shrubbery along the beach, the sand may be raised to any required height.

If any of your readers doubt this, I would recommend them to visit Oak Island, and see the banks of sand there accumulated, simply by the tufts of grass holding the sand, and growing higher and higher as the sand rises, until hills are formed.

Should you obtain this amount of water-as you are certain to do, if the appropriation is made-what will there be to prevent the establishment of a Naval Depot (for our Steam Navy) at Smithville? where your Deep River coal, iron and copper can be dumped" from the cars-the cars that will run from the Mines to the wharf.

That a Railroad will be constructed from the Yadkin to the sea coast, with a connection to the Coal Mines, there is no doubt. Get a charter, let the Counties along the line subscribe liberally, and you will find capital enough to build this road, in three years, possibly less. But we must work; we shall never do it by talking; we must act ;-we must arouse Fayetteville friends must work; they must not subscribe to the Railroads for the purpose of making an investment, but to increase the value of their property! The Outrage in Ashe.

We have recently heard the particulars of one of the most diabolical outrages ever perpetrated in either a savage or civilized community. It occurred in Ashe county, in this State. We had before heard some rumors of it, but only a few days ago learned the particulars

It seems that a man, named Mitchell, had a negro man hired, who slept in the loft of the house in which Mr. Mitchell lived. During the absence of Mr. M., this negro, together with another negro, and a white man named Whitaker, outraged the person of Mrs. Mitchell and then murdered her. The particulars are too revolting for publication. The negro that was hired to Mr. M. made a full confession, implicating the other two named. He was tried at Ashe Court, two weeks ago, and convicted, but sentence was not passed against him, in order that he may be a competent witness against the other negro, who will be tried next fall in Wilkes county.

There being no competent testimony against Whitaker, though scarce a doubt is entertained of his guilt, he was not brought to trial; but we learn that a number of citizens caught him one night, a week or two ago, and after stripping him to his pantloons, proaway, or he will be dealt with as the law directs. it, have kept the public mind in this region under ceeded to give him a hundred lashes, well laid on.-He was then hung until nearly dead, when he was oyed a larger share of public confidence and esteem taken down and permitted to revive, and then hoisted than did McDonald. Town Meeting. A meeting was held last night in the Court House, to take into consideration the opening of Princess Street. O. G. Parsley Esq., Magistrate of Police was called to the chair and T. Burr, Jr., requested to act as Secretary. After explaining the objects of the meeting Mr. Parsley submitted to it a report made we bespeak for her therefore a fair share of the travto the Board of Commissioners by a Committee appointed to examine into the matter - the Committee consisting of Messrs. W. A. Wright, John J. Conoley, and Dr. W. W. Harriss. The report took the ground that the Commissioners are not vested in the new limits of the town-that the act extending the limits is defective in so far as it recognises a certain missioners even had power and were willing to exercise it, there would be many practical difficulties, one of which is that there is no legal method prescribed to be observed with regard to individual property which might have to be taken or removed in opening a street-no mode fixed for arriving at the sum to be paid for the property so removed or taken. The report recommends that application be made to the next Legislature for the needful power. A resolution to this effect, offered by Mr. McLaurin, was adopted by the meeting. Mr. Parsley stated that the Commissioners were anxious to do this work, but after having taken legal advice, did not feel that they had

After the business in regard to Princess Street had been disposed of T. Burr, Jr., Esq., remarked, that as Mr. Fillmore, Ex-President of the United States was expected to come this way, it was due to him as well as to ourselves that he should receive a fitting welcome. On his motion, the whole matter of Mr. Fillmore's reception was referred to the Commissioners of the Town. And the meeting adjourned. Daily Journal, 7th inst.

Our cotemporary of the New-Berne Atlantic need not get so excited. It is true, that in his issue of the 22d of March, he published an editorial article headed "Ridiculing General Dockery-Boston Abolitionists," which fully established his claim to the character of a Donkey. But why need he feel so bad about it ?-he can't help being a Donkey; it comes natural to him; it is not his fault, and nobody would hurt his feelings about it, were he only to stop braying-but he wont. He exceeds himself of their sons and daughters, than in neglecting to this week, in the Atlantic of the 5th instant. He make their rural homes attractive. With little beauadds a cubit unto his stature--yea, verily, a cubit and ty in their dwellings, with few objects upon the farm a half-and, furthermore, maketh the astonishing taught by the conduct and language of those around discovery that we are Irish. Precisely so, Mr. At- them, that there are higher and easier paths to wealth lantic. We were born so, precisely as you were and distinction, it is little to be wondered that so maborn a Donkey. Neither of us could help it, you know: so let us bear our several afflictions patiently, C. L. Flint, Sec. Mass. Board of Agriculture, alluded other's pheelinks.

But speaking more seriously -- if it be possible to treat such stuff seriously, -- the Atlantic asks us to asks us to prove a negative-to prove that the Boston Post is not an Abolitionist. It may be worth while attending to this when the Atlantic adduces founded assertions.

Sleeping in Railroad Cars,

Some few months since we noticed an announce ment in the Northern papers which could not fail to prove acceptable to the travelling public-namely, the fact that Mr. John T. Hammitt, of Philadelphia, had devised a plan for adjusting the seats in Railroad Cars, so that the occupants could enjoy all the pleasures and advantages of a recumbent position, enabling them to obtain the necessary repose even during long journeys-a consummation most devoutly to be wished, and which will be fully appreciated by any person who has travelled all night in Cars furnished with seats of the usual construction, in which every position has been assumed in the vain hope of hitting upon an easier one; and each fresh attempt only resulting in the discovery of some new inconvenience. The legs cramped up-the head bumping about at the ing of excessive sleepiness obliged to be borne without the hope of relief. The contrivance of Mr. Hammitt consists of a seat placed in the same position in the car as the present style of seats usually occupy. It occupant, by moving a simple knob, can throw himmovement of the seat throws up a paddled leg-rest, think, honor, (they don't always go together,) in the reclining on a luxurious lounge, with the single ex- efit on their country in the improvement of its agriception that he has no pillow. But this difficulty Mr. culture. They forget that the very men who fail at Hammitt has also overcome. I am gentlemen, yours, REV. VERNON ESKRIDGE, U. S. N PORTSMOUTH, Va., Aug. 18, 1851.

Mr. J. E. Boush—Sir: While I am in general opposition to Patent Medicines, candor compels me to state that I have great confidence to the virtues of HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINC. TURE. For several months past I have used it in my family, and in dispepsia, loss of appetite, dizziness and general debility, with entire success. So far as my experience extends, therefore, I take pleasure in recommending it to the afflicted, as a

MESSRS. MORTIMER & MOWBRAY—Gentlemen: For the last five years I have been a severe sufferer from Rheumatism, till seeing your recommendation of Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," I purchased a bottle, and the first dose has so much relieved me that I consider it but justice to give to the suffering world the res ry fame; but when my fellow beings are afflicted, shall I hesitate, or through modesty, withhold any information valuable to my fellow man? So, if you consider this worthy of a place in any of your newspapers, you are at liberty to make use of it.

Yours, truly,
ALVAH KEMBALL.
